MONOMATERIAL

CALL FOR ENTRIES
OF THE
FRITZ AND TRUDE
FORTMANN-FOUNDATION
2025/26

In view of resource scarcity and the urgent need to reduce the carbon footprint, the pressing question arises whether both traditional and newly developed monomaterials and construction methods need to be meaningfully further developed.

With this call for applications, the Fritz and Trude Fortmann-Foundation is seeking to promote the subject of monomaterials in architecture and building culture. We invite submissions of concept sketches of no more than two pages in length by March 31, June 2, 2025. The idea sketch is the basis for the invitation to a detailed application. For the application, an elaborated concept must be created and presented in a workshop. Collaborations between engineering and architectural firms are welcome, as are contributions from architecture, design, and art, as well as theoretical or historical research projects. Two research projects can be supported over two years with a contribution of up to EUR 300,000 each.

A workshop on the topic will take place in Berlin on June 2, 2025. Invitations to selected authors will be sent out in May 2025.
